Guide to the United States Army and ROTC articles and newspapers
MSS.4026

This finding aid was produced using the Archivists' Toolkit
September 05, 2014
Describing Archives: A Content Standard
Table of Contents

Summary Information ......................................................................................................................... 3

Biographical/Historical note ............................................................................................................. 4

Scope and Contents note ................................................................................................................... 4

Administrative Information ............................................................................................................... 4

Controlled Access Headings .......................................................................................................... 5

Collection Inventory ....................................................................................................................... 6
Summary Information

Repository
United States Army and ROTC articles and newspapers

Creator
United States. Army.

Title
United States Army and ROTC articles and newspapers

Date
2001-2008

Extent
0.1 Linear feet

Language
English

Abstract
Articles and newspapers on the U.S. Army and ROTC programs at the University of Alabama.

Preferred Citation note
United States Army and ROTC articles and newspapers, University Libraries Division of Special Collections, The University of Alabama
Biographical/Historical note

The Association of the United States Army is a private, non-profit advocacy group for the U. S. Army. Its membership is open to everyone, not just Army personnel, and membership is not mandatory for soldiers.

ROTC, or Reserve Officers' Training Corps, is a college-based program for training commissioned officers of the United States Armed Forces. ROTC officers serve in all branches of the military, including the U.S. Marine Corps and the U. S. Coast Guard. The ROTC grew out of the Morrill Act of 1862 which established the land-grant colleges. As part of this act, the federal government required that these colleges include military tactics as part of their curriculum.

Scope and Contents note

The collection contains articles and newspapers by and about the United States Army. The newspapers include the AUSA News (Association of the United States Army), Leader: Leader's Training Course, and the Crimson White.

Administrative Information

Publication Information

University Libraries Division of Special Collections, The University of Alabama September 2014

Conditions Governing Access note

None

Conditions Governing Use note

None

Provenance

unknown
Controlled Access Headings

Corporate Name(s)

• University of Alabama. Army ROTC.

Subject(s)

• Military readiness
• War and Military
Collection Inventory

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Articles and papers</th>
<th>Box</th>
<th>Folder</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>SC0095</td>
<td>4026.01</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>