Preferred Citation note

Third Liberty Loan Subscriber Window Poster, W.S. Hoole Special Collections Library, The University of Alabama
Biographical/Historical note

Liberty Bonds were sold by the United States government during World War I to bolster finances for the Allies. Subscribing to the bonds became a symbol of patriotic duty in the United States and introduced the idea of financial securities to many citizens for the first time. The Third Liberty Loan offer opened April 5, 1918.

Scope and Contents note

The collection contains a 1918 Third Liberty Loan Subscriber window poster.
