The Albert N. Verno Letters, W.S. Hoole Special Collections Library, The University of Alabama.
Biographical/Historical note

The letters mention Camp Croft, a World War Two Army Infantry Replacement Center located near Spartanburg, South Carolina. This camp was known as a Replacement Training Center (RTC).

Scope and Contents note

This collection consists of eleven letters from Albert N. Verno, United States Army, to his friend, Robert (Bob) Haas, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania at Camp Croft and Lake Charles, Louisiana, from December 11, 1942 to December 11, 1944, during World War Two.

Albert Verno does not state where he is because of the censorship regulations. He mentions that he has been around the islands, writes South Pacific on his last two letters, and was in Australia and Fiji. It sounds as though they met in training. They write about "other boys" they know and how they are doing. Verno also mentions what he does during his free time---movies, going to the beach, etc.
